Tenure-Track Faculty Position
In Experimental Particle Physics

The Department of Physics in the College of Arts & Sciences at the University of Cincinnati invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the level of Assistant Professor with a start date of August 15, 2020. We are looking for an outstanding researcher with interests in the area of experimental particle physics who can play a leading role in current and future Flavor and Intensity Frontier experiments.

The Department’s High-Energy Physics faculty have active programs in both experimental and theoretical research. The experimental group plays a significant role in several experiments, specifically on LHCb, BELLE, BELLE II, NOvA, MINOS/MINOS+, and DUNE. The theory group focuses on flavor physics research and interacts closely with the experimental group. The ideal candidate’s research interests would strengthen the current experimental efforts. Outstanding candidates with interests in other experiments are welcome to apply. Hiring at the tenured level is possible in exceptional cases.

The successful candidate is expected to establish an independent research program, to acquire external funding to support it, and to develop into a high-quality teacher at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Our university and department are committed to increasing diversity and inclusivity in the campus community and expect our faculty to contribute toward this goal.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. degree in Physics and a minimum of two years of postdoctoral research experience, with a record of substantial research accomplishments. Applications must be submitted online at this link (or go to https://jobs.uc.edu/, look for requisition #39848). In addition to filling the online form, required attachments include a cover letter, a current Curriculum Vitae, a statement of research interests, and a statement of teaching experience and interests. A separate one-page statement addressing the applicant’s experiences, activities, and philosophy relating to diversity and inclusion, and how they will advance UC’s commitment to Inclusive Excellence is also required. Applicants must arrange to have three letters of reference sent separately, preferably in PDF format, to hepsearch2019@uc.edu. For additional information, contact the search committee chair, Professor Jure Zupan, at jure.zupan@uc.edu. Applications received by November 17, 2019 will be guaranteed full consideration; however, applications will be reviewed until the position is filled. The University of Cincinnati, as a multi-national and culturally diverse university, is committed to providing an inclusive, equitable and diverse place of learning and employment. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Concomitant spousal applications are welcome and will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

The University of Cincinnati is an Affirmative Action / Equal Opportunity Employer / M / F / Veteran / Disabled.
